What is the Commercial License?

The commercial license is for companies that want to use KodaHosting commercially without having to release their own code under GPL v3 or LOPL. By purchasing the commercial license, you may use the software in closed-source commercial products, with your own modifications, without having to publish those modifications.

This is the solution for companies that want to use the code commercially but, for business reasons, cannot or do not want to open-source their own code. The commercial license essentially buys you the freedom to keep your own code closed.

Prices (tiered by annual revenue)

The fee depends on the Licensee's annual revenue, including all Affiliates. It is a one-time fee per project. After payment, you receive a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive license for the named project.

Tier	Annual Revenue (incl. Affiliates)	License Fee (EUR)
Tier 1, Startup	Under 100,000 EUR	250 EUR
Tier 2, Small	100,000 EUR to 1 million EUR	1,000 EUR
Tier 3, Mid-Size	1 million to 10 million EUR	5,000 EUR
Tier 4, Large	10 million to 100 million EUR	10,000 EUR
Tier 5, Global	100 million EUR or more	50,000 EUR

All prices are in Euro (EUR), exclusive of applicable value-added tax. The fee is one-time per project. Later, larger versions of the Software may require a new license.

What the Commercial License allows

With the commercial license, you may:

- Use in closed-source products: You may use the software in commercial products without having to release your own source code.
- Modification: You may modify the software and keep the modifications to yourself.
- Distribution: You may distribute the software (original or modified) to your customers as part of your product.
- SaaS hosting: You may offer the software as a web service without having to publish your server-side code.
- Internal use: You may use the software internally within your company, for your own purposes.
- Perpetual license: You pay once and may use the software indefinitely in the named project.

What the Commercial License does NOT allow

- Trademark use: You may not use the name KodaHosting, the logo, or the developer's trademarks without express permission.
- No warranty: The software is provided without warranty. The developer is not liable for damages arising from use.
- Patent retaliation: If you sue the developer for patent infringement, your commercial license automatically terminates.
- Affiliate circumvention: You may not bypass the license through a subsidiary to reach a lower tier.
- Contractor circumvention: You may not bypass the license by having freelancers integrate the software on your behalf.
- Transfer: You may not transfer the license to third parties without the developer's consent.

Duration and Termination

The commercial license is perpetual, for the version of the software named in the agreement. It terminates automatically if you breach material contract terms and fail to cure the breach within 30 days of written notice. Patent litigation against the developer terminates the license immediately.
